

Seward observations 1 23 2012

Russ Maddox

to:

Wallace.Evans, John Pavitt

01/23/2012 04:24 PM

Cc:

Paul

Hide Details

From: Russ Maddox <russmaddox@Exemption 6

To: Wallace.Evans@alaska.gov, John Pavitt/R10/USEPA/US@EPA,

Cc: Paul <farnsworthp@Exemption 6

<https://picasaweb.google.com/sweeper07/SCLFJan232012Jpg?authkey=Gv1sRgCJ6kguLAzuyOVg&feat=email>

Hi Wally and John and Paul,

It snowed both Saturday and Sunday night covering the coal dust on the surface of the last snowfall that you saw in the images I sent you on Saturday. Everything is now once again concealed under clean white snow now. I noticed a boat storage yard being plowed for the first time in several weeks on Leirer Rd adjacent to the coal stockpiles. The faces of the snowbanks the plow cut and revealed had very clearly visible layers of coal dust between the layers of snow from the past several weeks. To me it appears to indicate that coal dust flew and fell out each time it quit snowing creating a visible black layer of coal dust.

Thanks for all of your efforts on behalf of our environment.

Regards, Russ